I actually like the idea of having the power to chat with random folks from all over the world. However, I have had some points with getting banned from the site for seemingly no cause. I understand that people can get banned for sharing specific content material, however sometimes I get banned just for skipping someone. When I skip, it is usually as a result of the individual is trolling, sharing adult content material or nudity, or they're simply not there. Another thing that I suppose could possibly be improved is the trolling and adverse karma system.

The owner of the site does not care concerning the illegal activity that takes place on his site and does nothing to cease it. The safety is non-existent, the moderation is horrible, and the user experience is overall horrible.
